BONAIRE MANTA FREED

Divers staying at the Carib Inn, Bonaire were treated to a little extra excitement and a great deal of satisfaction on one of their dives recently when a manta ray was spotted at Rappel, one of Bonaire's most popular sites. The ray had been seen a few weeks prior with rope wrapped tightly around its body. It was just by chance that the Carib Inn divers saw the manta swimming very slowly in about 70 feet of water. Bruce Bowker, owner of the Carib Inn and guide on that dive, alerted everyone and slowly they descended on the creature. It barely moved as they began to cut away the rope as carefully as possible. After only a few minutes the last piece of rope was pulled free and the manta rolled over and quickly swam off, free of the burden. ➤
